Q3 EVENT – SAN FRANCISCO GIANTS GAME

Another year of tasting Northern California wines at the Giants game and again another year of fun! On Friday, July 6th we tasted wines that ranged from Rosé to Zinfandels. All were quite enjoyable and again we had fantastic weather for a night game at AT&T Park. The game was exciting but the impromptu stop at the bar on the way home with our members was priceless. Everyone really enjoyed this event, so I will look at this again next year and we can create new memories. By the way, the Giants got the win with a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals!

Get Organized

How do you organize your wines will depend on your inventory and drinking preferences, but step 1 is to do a full inventory. Next, Separate your wines into at least two categories: Ready to drink and wines to age. Put the wines you don't want to touch out of immediate reach– either high up or low down so that you don't disturb the sediment whenever you're poking around for something to pour with dinner.

Keep your everyday drinkers and wines that rotate in and out frequently (bubbles, rosé, and crisp whites) in an easy-to-reach place. From there, you can sort wines by color, region or type of grape. Or, if your collection is deep with your favorite brands or verticals, organize them by producer. In short, best practice is to organize your collection based on how you plan to drink it.
